Policies on Modern Slavery, Governance & Training

We as a Group recognise that we all have a responsibility to mitigate and be alert to the risks of slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour within our businesses and within our supply chain. As a result, our internal documents hold the following controls to reflect our commitment to acting with integrity and to ensure that any potential risks in relation to modern slavery are identified:

Recruitment Policy:

Our policy stipulates that proof of right to work in the UK must be sought at the interview. All offers of employment are conditional and are subject to the outcome of the pre-employment screening process. We reserve the right to withdraw any pending offer of employment in the event of an unsatisfactory outcome.

Equality, Diversity & Inclusion Policy:

Our policy has been implemented to ensure the fair treatment of all individuals. All persons working for the business have the right to be treated with dignity and respect. All those who act on the Group's behalf will be informed of this policy and will be expected to adhere to it when conducting business on the Group's behalf. Staff receive annual training on our policy.

Pay Policy:

As an employer, we aim to pay fairly and competitively. We will pay at least national minimum wage to all our employees.

Code of Business Ethics:

The Code applies across the Group and to all our employees & business partners (including but not limited to customers, suppliers and contractors). All to whom the Code applies are required as a minimum standard to comply with all laws and regulations, including the Modern Slavery Act 2015. The Group strives to maintain the highest standards of employee conduct and ethical behaviour when operating and managing its supply chain. We expect and encourage employees and business partners to bring promptly to management's attention any suspected or actual breaches of our Code.

The Group strives to maintain the highest standards of employee conduct and ethical behaviour when operating and managing its supply chain. The Group's Code makes clear to employees the actions and behaviours expected of them when representing the organisation. Disregard or breach (actual or suspected) of the Code by an employee may result in disciplinary action. The Group reserves the right to hold business partners responsible should practices occur in their businesses which are not in line with the principles as embodied in the Code. Disregard or breach (actual or suspected) of the Code by a business partner may result in termination of contract. Training on this policy is provided to staff periodically.

Prohibition of Child Labour and Forced Labour:

The Company strictly prohibits all forms of child labour, forced labour, and human trafficking within its operations and throughout its supply chain. Employment must be freely chosen, and no individual shall be subjected to coercion, servitude, debt bondage, or any form of involuntary work. The Company complies fully with the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015, the Children and Young Persons Act 1933, and other applicable UK labour laws, as well as international standards including the ILO Conventions such as Minimum Age Convention, Worst Forms of Child Labour Convention and Forced Labour Conventions. No person under the minimum school-leaving age, as defined by UK law, shall be employed in any capacity. Where young workers (aged 15–18) are engaged, the Company ensures that the nature of their work is appropriate, and does not interfere with their education, health, safety, or development. All suppliers, contractors, and business partners are required to comply with the same standards.

Any breach of this policy may result in corrective action, suspension, or termination of the business relationship.

Whistleblowing Policy:

This policy ensures all our employees know that they can raise concerns about how colleagues are being treated or about practices within our business or supply chain without fear of detriment. Staff receive annual training on our Whistleblowing Procedure.

Supplier On-Boarding and Management Framework:

It is essential that we have effective governance controls in place for the management of third party suppliers. The Supplier Management Framework sets out the process to ensure that as part of the on-boarding and on-going management of a supplier we have sufficient controls in place to identify, escalate and take appropriate actions to manage risks.

During 2024, the Group continued to expand the existing On-Boarding and Management Framework with the launch of the new Supplier Management Tool went live, with all new suppliers being subject to due diligence questions in relation to their Modern Slavery controls.

Due Diligence Processes

Throughout the Group businesses, our contractual agreements provide our suppliers with obligations to adhere to the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and with many of our suppliers, we reserve the right to audit.

As indicated above, as part of the Group Supplier Management Process, due diligence undertaken of suppliers will incorporate a review of the controls undertaken by the supplier surrounding human trafficking, slavery and servitude. Those initial diligence questions should the Group deem there may be a risk, further specific questions may be asked including (but is not limited to) questions on pay, employment practices and contracts. In 2024, the Group continued diligence around Modern Slavery on our new suppliers, with further diligence scheduled for 2025.

Risk Assessment

Based upon the services we provide; we have deemed that the risk of slavery within our business is low.

As outlined above, the Group have a number of policies which enable us to mitigate to risk of slavery within our business, and the Group shall continue to ensure that the risk remains minimal.

With our suppliers, a great deal are deemed to be low risk as they provide services within low risk sectors and are based in the UK. However, the Group intend to undertake a risk assessment of our suppliers, based upon factors such as their employment practices, location, industry sector and our reliance on this supplier as a business, as our supplier management framework matures. We intend that all suppliers will be categorised and set against the above criteria.

The Group recognises that imported goods from sources outside of the UK and EU are potentially more susceptible to slavery & human trafficking risks. The level of management control required for these sources is monitored.

The Group will continually review the risk of slavery within our business and supply chain and make any necessary changes to our practices if required.

Monitoring

Risks and incidents relating to Modern Slavery are monitored by exception through existing controls within the Whistleblowing Policy, Supplier Management Framework & Code of Business Ethics. Any Modern Slavery risks and issues will be escalated the reviewed as part of the Group's risk management framework.

The Group Compliance team will continue to monitor our supply chain risks through our Due Diligence process. To date, there have been no causes for concern following these audits due to the nature of our businesses, the sectors, and geolocations that we operate within.

Should any risks be brought to light in the future, or should our risk profile change, we are committed to altering our practices in combating Modern Slavery.

Training for Staff

All associated policies are available on the Group intranet, are reviewed periodically and all staff must adhere to these policies.

This statement will be reviewed annually and published. A full copy of this statement and a link to the Modern Slavery Act 2015 will be accessible to all employees on the Intranet and is published on the government's modern slavery registry.

The Legal and Compliance department are registered with 'Stronger Together', and will periodically review their training materials and resources in order to assess the risk to our Group and roll out training when appropriate.

This Modern Slavery Statement has been approved by the Board of Directors of ExamWorks UK Limited on 28/05/2025.

Signed on behalf of the Group

Mike Cutler
